STILL PROVIDING FOR

POOR OF THE CITY Salvation Army Has Given Out Dinners for 150 Since Christmas-Cases of Real Need Found.

Although 115 baskets of food, enough to feed 700 people, were given away to the deserving poor of the city for Christmas dinners by the Salvation Army, 150 have since been taken to other families who have been found in need and want. Many of these people were recommended by friends of the army who are interested in the work of lessening the suffering of the poor of Norwich. Several weeks ago kettles were placed in the square as an appeal to those who wished to contribute tow-ards these Christmas dinners, but the avis these Christmas dinners, but the total amount fell a little short of Captain Wilbur's expectations. Five hundred appeals have been sent out to business men of the city and over 100 have been answered. There are many cases of need in the city, as may be shown from one case found by Captain Wilbur's assistant, Mr. Faufau. He went into one house Friday where he found an old woman without fire, coal or wood, and without food. She was living in two rooms that were coal or wood, and without food. She was living in two rooms that were given her by a neighbor, but there was little comfort, as the ceiling leaked so bad that she was forced to use dishes to catch the waier, and the floor was all wet. The old lady had been in bed sick for two days and was unable to rise. This is only one of the many cases that exist about the city, which shows that the support of the public is badly needed to carry on the relief work.
